COAL: THERE IS NO FUEL LIKE AN OLD FUEL

Did you know that Indiana has large coal reserves under the southwestern counties, and that coal mining has gone on there since the early 1800's?

Learn about the origin and character of Indiana coal.

Visit a coal-fired power plant on Thursday, May 19 and travel on Saturday, May 21 to explore one of the nation's largest open cast coal mines.

Come join us to learn about Indiana's energy treasures!

Instructor: Nelson Shaffer, head of the Coal and Industrial Minerals section of the Indiana Geological Survey.

Thursday, May 19, 7-8:30 p.m. and Saturday, May 21, 9 a.m.-2:30 p.m.

Location: Thursday: Indiana Geological Survey, 611 N. Walnut Grove, S201, Patton Conference Room.

Saturday: we will meet at Geological Survey and travel by van to the coal mine.
Fee: $56; seniors, $54
